Introducing the
#BigBRIXrebuild giveaway

We're really pleased to announce we'll be giving away a free brand development package to a small charity in the UK.

Adam Brown, BRIX Lead Designer said: "We know it's been a difficult time for the sector we serve, so we've been putting our heads together to think about how we can practically help organisations who are struggling as a result of the virus. In our county of Suffolk, but also nationwide.

Sadly, we can't giveaway our services for free to everyone (if we could, we would!) but we still wanted to be able to help our sector as it rebuilds.

We released our 4 Steps to Improving Your Charities Communication eBook as one way of doing that (which is available to everyone, on our website) but now we want to offer one charity a brand development package as well… for free! This will help smaller organisations gain increased confidence in the direction of their charity and will improve the way their organisation communicates, which in turn should increase interest from funders and open new doors for them."

Email adam@brixbrandcreative.com if you'd like to nominate your organisation. Further details and signup information can be found on our Instagram account and the winning charity will be selected on the 21st September.

BRIX is a support network of creatives looking to unite ambitious third sector organisations with the creative building blocks they need to have a lasting impact. As an agency who works in partnership with a charity, we've seen the challenges third sector organisations face from the inside. From that foundation, we aim to help organisations on a path to sustainability through effective brand development, so their voice is heard by the people who need to hear it most.

We make sure all our profits go directly into supporting the third sector, and every penny goes back into a youth charity called The Mix Stowmarket, which is also the building where we're based.
